

New. Now. Next February 23, 2017

We're not just building homes. We're changing an industry

EnerQuality hosted our annual Housing Innovation Forum and Awards on February 23rd, 2017. Attendees joined us to explore what's new, what's now, and what's next in regards to the housing industry.

The EQ Housing Innovation Forum was a concentrated infusion of new thinking, new products and new techniques with the common benefits of advancing building performance. Topics explored included innovation in building science, climate change policy, performance-based architecture, and more, including our ever-popular Innovation Gauntlet!
